

PRINTER SET-UP

Before Clan Practical Accountant can be used to produce hardcopy reports from your financial data, the program must know what kind of printer you have attached to your printer.

Following is information which will allow you to use many printers which do not appear in the menu of the Initialize Printer function of the CPA Setup segment. Any printer appearing in these lists will support "condensed" printing and will print CPA "Wide" reports. If you have a printer which does not appear either on the Initialize Printer menu or in these lists, it should work with the "80 columns (only)" option in the menu, but will not produce wide reports.

1. Epson-equivalent Printers

Your printer may be one of the many which works like an Epson printer. If your printer model is listed in the following table, choose Epson (item 3) from the Initialize Printer menu:

Manufacturer	Model(s)
Antex	ADS-2000
BMC (USA)	BX80
Blue Chip Electronics	120/10
CAL-ABCO	Legend 800
Centronics	GLP, H80, H136, 351PC

Ricoh	RP1300-IBM
Roland DG	PR-1011
Star Micronics	Delta 10, Radix 10, Gemini 10x
Texas Instruments	855

2. Custom Printer Setup.

CPA will produce wide-format Monthly and Department Reports with a number of other printers if supplied with "Printer Codes" using the Custom option in the Initialize Printer function. If your printer appears in the following list, use the Custom option to enter the Printer Codes for Normal and 132-Column printing listed for your printer. The codes must be entered exactly as shown here, including slashes (/).
